To the Public Services Commission,

I have been following Docket 13-035-184, "RMP Intent to File General Rate Case", and, in particular, Rocky Mountain Power's proposal to add a $4.25 fee for residential customers with net-metering. I have already filed correspondence on January 14th:

Correspondence from Michael D Rosetti 1-15-2014.pdf

In that correspondence I posed several questions for which I would like RMP's responses. Of particular interest in determining RMP's net-metering fee justification will be answers to my questions #5, #7, #8, #9 and #13.

The reason I am writing is to find out what the proper procedure would be for me, as an individual, to take to insure that the PSC gets responses to the questions I have posed. Never having become involved in a situation such as this before, I scoured the PSC web site in vain for the procedures and/or rules that I would need to follow in order to get the answers I seek. I fear that my just speaking during the "public comment" period on July 29th will be ineffectual.

Would you please tell me what I should do to insure that the questions I pose in my correspondence are addressed by RMP during the hearings?

Sincerely,
Michael D. Rosetti
