I have made an appointment to have additional insulation put in my home under the Questar weatherization rebate program. My contractor called me to say that may be changing and that the date for the change may come before my scheduled appointment and that they had just been made aware of this. Since such a change was not advertised - but the program was widely promoted - I feel it would be unfair to make the change without giving a deadline; making it well known and having a period of time before it takes effect. I am sure there are many others who are affected by this. I would ask that you give my suggestion due consideration when you are making your decision about Questar's request.

Thanks
J'Lene Willes
