Subject: RE: 10-Digit Dialing

Please do not go to the 10-digit dialing system! Just split the area and give part a new area code. I understand businesses don't want to do this because some would have to get new business cards etc. Well, with enough time notice they could use up most of their current inventory and just make the change on their next order. I understand this might be a slight inconvenience for some businesses, but it would be an ongoing inconvenience for everyone to have to change to 10-digit calling. Lauren
