As a rooftop solar owner, I strongly oppose Rocky Mountain Power's proposed fee increase of $4.25 per month targeting me. I spent a lot of money to help the environment and now I'm being penalized.

Why does RMP want us to join Coolkeeper and shut off our air conditioners right when I'm generating peak solar? If we had more solar panels, we could meet increased demand and quit shutting off peoples' AC.

Rocky Mountain Power still generates power by burning coal which is a huge source of air pollution. I'm offsetting that pollution with my clean solar panels.

Utah has one of the worst state incentives for solar in the West. Trying to make me pay even MORE to subsidize RMP is wrong.

This whole monthly fee idea is being pushed by ALEC so they can prove to businesses (that dumped them over the Stand Your Ground controversy) that they can have an effect on government. ALEC wants to prove $ buys politicians. Do you want to prove money buys your decisions?
