Please deny Rocky Mtn Power's request to impose a fee on home owners who have installed solar rooftop displays. The fee is a bad idea. We installed solar a number of years ago. We actually produce more than we use during most months, so we are creating power for our neighbors. So we are saving money for RMP. They should be paying us, not charging us money! Besides, we already paid big-time when we bought the panels.

Why should we now have to pay again? Currently, having solar panels increases the value of our home. But if there were a fee, it would reduce their value to a prospective buyer. We help reduce the number of coal-powered plants needed to generate electricity. That's a real advantage, because coal is a very dirty fuel. Utah has dirty air, and we need to do all we can to clean up our air. Solar panels help a lot. Do all you can to encourage more owners to install solar panels. A fee will discourage, not encourage people to use solar, which is a nifty source of free & clean energy. Please deny RMP's request to impose a fee on those of use who use solar panels.
