We recently installed a solar array on our roof and have not yet received a monthly utility bill so we do not yet know what fees and taxes remain. It is so tempting to add fees and taxes to utility bills. Just look at your phone bill.

If we produce more power than we use, does not Rocky Mountain Power benefit? Does this benefit from the power that we produce from our own bought and paid for solar panels amount to more than $4.25 per month? If it does then there should be no fee added to our electric bill just because we have chosen to use solar power. Thank you.
