Dear Chairman LeVar,

I recently added solar to my house. I did this not only to help with my power bill in the future but also to help mother earth. I think we have damage our planet enough with polluting our air with God only knows what, and to trying to kill our water supply with drilling or toxic oil. I'm not a big tree hugger type at all I just worry that sooner or later it's going to be to late to change and then where do we go? Where do our children go? The weather is already warning us that nature is not going to put up with us the way we are going for much longer. I live in Utah were hundreds of people are coming to every day, RMP keeps crying that they need more money to keep up with the amount of new power being used, im trying to help by suppling them more power I don't use all that I produce but I also do not get a kick back for that extra energy either. Win win for both of us we both get free clean power, just someone's getting greedy. Ps I also use synthetic oil in all my cars also.

Sincerely,

Bryan Koch

Dear Commissioner Clark,

Hello,

I am writing to ask you to keep net metering for solar customers. Solar power benefits everyone in the state by providing more clean, renewable energy and thus cleaner air. Clean air preserves our public health and quality of life and attracts business to the state. Thus, solar power should be encouraged and even incentivized. Solar reduces reliance on the grid, easing the strain with a growing population. Net metering should be preserved and encouraged. Rocky Mountain Power should not be allowed to have a complete monopoly on providing power. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Nathaniel Williams
