To whom it may concern,

My name is Amy Jessee and I was born and raised in Salt Lake City. I am absolutely thrilled that the community clean energy program is one step closer to becoming a reality here in Utah. I'm urging that the council approve of this application because any program that allows the community to have a say in where their energy comes from is a win in my book. I would love to know my energy is contributing to better air quality in Utah. My son has a family history of asthma and I'm incredibly protective of his health. I love to see any option that expand our community's use of renewable energy. This is the real deal. I am also a renter and having the ability to have a say in the energy that is used in my home is so exciting since solar panels are not an option for my family at the moment. I also love that this program allows consumers to choose whether or not they participate. Over all it's amazing and I hope the council can see the benefit it will bring to our great state.

Thank you for your time and service to our community,

Amy
