I have been a 45 yearlong Utahn, and I strongly believe we, as a State, should turn to cleaner, renewable energy. I read recently that PacifiCor has proposed we, as a State, continue to use dirty coal for another 20 years. We should turn to renewable energy, such as solar, wind, and thermal energy instead. We need to try to fight global warming today, not in 20 years. Locally, we need to preserve our snowpack and attempt to clean our air and replenish the Great Salt Lake. Please look to keeping Utah cleaner and cooler for future generations. The time is now to act.

Sincerely, Kathy Miklossy
