Rocky Mountain Power's Application for a Deferred Accounting Order Regarding the 2026 Inter-Jurisdictional Allocation Protocol	DOCKET NO. 25-035-69 ORDER GRANTING MOTIONS TO SUSPEND SCHEDULE AND DISCOVERY

ISSUED: March 5, 2026

On February 20, 2026, Rocky Mountain Power (RMP) filed its Motion to Suspend the Procedural Schedule and to Suspend Discovery ("RMP's Motion") in Docket No. 25-035-47 ("Approval Docket"), requesting the Public Service Commission (PSC) suspend the schedule and all discovery in the docket for 60 days. RMP's Motion explains a pending transaction ("Transaction") with Portland General Electric Company ("PGE") will result in RMP selling its Washington service area and certain of its Washington-based assets to PGE. The Transaction is expected to meaningfully affect the allocation of costs under RMP's proposed 2026 Inter-Jurisdictional Cost Allocation Protocol. RMP represents it contacted parties to the Approval Docket following public announcement of the Transaction and confirmed that seven of the eight other parties do not oppose RMP's Motion.¹

On February 25, 2026, the Utah Large Customer Group (UTLCG) filed its Unopposed Motion to Suspend Procedural Schedule and Discovery ("UTLCG's Motion") in Docket No. 25-035-69 ("Deferral Docket"), requesting the PSC suspend the schedule and discovery in the docket for 60 days consistent with any suspension granted in the Approval Docket. UTLCG represents it conferred with the other parties, and none opposes its motion.

Good cause appearing, the PSC grants RMP's Motion and UTLCG's Motion. Discovery and the existing schedules in the Approval Docket and the Deferral Docket are suspended for 60 days from the date of this order.

The PSC asks parties in each docket, respectively, to confer and file a proposed stipulated amended schedule in each docket on or before Tuesday, April 7, 2026. In the event the parties are unable to reach a consensus regarding an amended schedule in either docket, the PSC directs RMP to file a request with the PSC to set a date for a scheduling conference in the pertinent docket.

DATED at Salt Lake City, Utah, March 5, 2026.
