Subject: CNG Price

I do believe strongly the CNG prices in utah should be left the way they are right now. It shouldn't reflect the market fluctuation as seen in other states when the half of the CNG comes from within this region at a very low price.

We as CNG vehicle owners forked out a great deal more for the CNG vehicles believing that there will be continuity in low CNG fuel prices in Utah. This is not a good develop both in light of current CNG vehicle owners and the continuing effort by the State to attract more clean burning CNG cars to the state by offering the low cost CNG and tax breaks.
