Dear Governor Jon M. Huntsman,

Clean Air quality is hard to come by so my family purchased a CNG vehicle in hopes of cutting our carbon footprint a small amount, yet it has been difficult to sustain our enthusiasm to do this because of the infrastructure being in such disrepair.

It seems that the natural gas pumps are disappearing or just plain out of order more times than not. It makes me nervous when getting below a half tank of gas since Iâ€™m finding most pumps not working properly, not working at all, or just gone when I arrive to fill up my vehicle!

Itâ€™s hard to believe that anyone really wants to reduce any amount of carbon footprint and use alternative fuels when nothing is being done to make it easier for people to do this.

I want to be able to drive my clean vehicle with confidence and pride instead of anxiety and always wondering if I made a huge mistake by trying to make a change that not many people are willing to try because it is not ordinary.

I donâ€™t pretend to know why the infrastructure has so many problems or why the gas company is not able to keep them in proper functioning order, but hope that things change for the better soon. With regular gas prices so low and the problems with the natural gas infrastructure, not many people will be switching from their gas powered vehicles to natural gas any time soon.

I am not ready to give up yet. If we all give up nothing will change with the air pollution and our dependence on just one fuel source. I am hoping this is given some serious attention so that the small minority of us natural gas vehicle owners can feel more confident in our choice to make a difference.

Thanks you so much for your time regarding this matter.

Sincerely,

Shauna Prsbrey
