

Qualifications of Craig C. Wagstaff

Current Responsibilities

As President of Questar Gas Company, I am responsible for all company functions dealing with delivering natural gas to nearly 1 million customers in Utah, southwestern Wyoming and southern Idaho. I also serve as a corporate officer and executive vice president of Questar Gas's parent company – Questar Corporation.

Prior Responsibilities and Experience

In my 32-year career I have held various leadership positions including overseeing the utility's customer-service functions, regional-distribution operations, public and community relations, economic development and marketing.

Educational Background

I attended Weber State University and the University of Utah, completing undergraduate degrees in business and marketing; I earned a master's degree in organizational leadership - business management from Gonzaga University. I also attended Southern Methodist University Business School Energy Leader Program.

Board Memberships

I am currently serving on various industry and community boards including Western Energy Institute (WEI), American Gas Association's (AGA) leadership council, Utah Clean Cities, United Way of Salt Lake and currently chair of Junior Achievement of Utah. I am a past chair of the American Red Cross, AGA\Edison Electric Institute (EEI) customer-service committee and WEI's customer-connections executive committee.
