With the approval of the Company, the applicant, if he so elects, may furnish material, transportation, or labor, in accordance with the normal construction standards of the Company. In all instances the ownership of facilities shall be entirely vested in the Company. The locations of line extensions are determined by the Company.

When an applicant is so located that it is necessary to use private and/or public right-of-way to furnish service, and the Company is unable to obtain the required right of way without cost, the applicant may be required to pay the costs incurred in securing the right of way in addition to other charges.

Line extension charges to applicants will be based on Rural Utilities Service (RUS) Rules and Regulations, when applicable. In case of disagreement or dispute regarding the application of any provisions of this rule, or in circumstances where the application of this rule appears impracticable or unjust to either party, the utility, applicant, or applicants may refer the matter to the Board of Directors for ruling.

The original subscriber is responsible for any unpaid line extension charges.

DEFINITIONS

Integrated Services Digital Network (ISDN)

A digital architecture that provides an integrated voice/data capability to the customer premises facility, utilizing the public switched network. ISDN distributes voice, data, video, image, and facsimile by a Primary Rate Interface (PRI). This is a serving arrangement which conforms to internationally developed, published, and recognized standards generated by the International Telecommunications Union.

Primary Rate Interface (PRI)

The basic Primary Rate Interface (PRI) structure consists of 23 B-channels and a D channel, for a total transmission rate of 1.544 Mbps, which is equivalent to a T1 facility. Each 64 kbps B-channel carries user information such as voice calls, circuit-switched data, or video. The D-channel is a 64 kbps channel that is used to carry the control or signaling information.

Circuit-Switched Data PRI consists of 23B+D, which is equivalent to a T1 facility. The customer may use CPE to bond together 64 kbps B-channels for the transmission of circuit-switched data or video.

23B+D

This service configuration provides for 23 B-channels and 1 D-channel. The B channels carry user information such as voice calls, circuit-switched data, or video, while the D-channel handles signaling information. When equipped, the D-channel can control a maximum of 479 B-channels. The B-channels may be provisioned on the same facility as the D-channel or on other PRI T1 facilities.

24B

This service configuration provides for 24 B-channels. The B-channels carry user information such as voice calls, circuit-switched data, or video. The signaling information is provided by a D-channel on the first T1 facility.

23B+Back-up D

This service configuration provides for 23 B-channels and a back-up D channel. The back-up D-channel is used if the primary D-channel, which provides signaling for multiple T1 facilities, fails. All active calls are maintained during the switch-over to the back-up D-channel.

Circuit-Switched Data Connection

A Circuit-Switched Data Connection is a central office translation that provisions 23 or 24 B-channels on a PRI T1 facility. All B-channels are dedicated with 2-way operation and have access to the exchange network. Incoming calls are restricted to circuit-switched data or video.

ISDN Trunk Connection

An ISDN Trunk Connection (TC) is a central office translation that provisions each B-channel in a PRI. The TC allows access to the exchange network. One ISDN Trunk Connection is required for each B-channel used in a PRI.

- a. Call-by-Call PRI - The PRI B-channels are configured to support inward and outward call flexibility predetermined by the customer's traffic flow.
- b. Dedicated PRI - Each B-channel is dedicated to inward, outward, or 2-way traffic.

AVAILABLE FEATURES

Calling Number Identification

This feature displays the call identification information and the calling party's directory number (including nonpublished and non-listed directory numbers) prior to the call being answered. Callers have the ability to inhibit the display of calling party information to the terminating number.

Calling Number Identification Blocking-All Calls

All outgoing calls will be blocked for PRI customers where technically feasible as determined by the Company.

Direct Inward/Outward Dialing

Allows station users to place or receive calls bypassing the attendant.

Circuit-Switched Data

Allows the transmission of circuit-switched data on a voice channel.

2B Channel Transfer

2B Channel Transfer allows the transfer of two independent calls when both calls have been answered or when one call has been answered and one call is alerting. Notification of transfer is given to transferred users.

ISDN Calling Name Delivery (ICNAM)

ICNAM is a terminating feature that delivers to ISDN Class II Equipment, over a Primary Rate Interface, the original calling party name along with the calling party's telephone number. A private or unavailable indication will appear when the name is not available to the called customer.

ISDN Redirecting Number Delivery (RND)

RND provides not only the original calling number, but one or more numbers from which a call was redirected. If a call is redirected multiple times, both the first and the last redirecting numbers will be delivered. On calls forwarded, a redirecting reason is also provided to the RND subscriber indicating why a call was forwarded, e.g., the Call Forwarding Variable, Call Forwarding Busy, or Call Forwarding Don't Answer feature was active. When a call is forwarded multiple times, the first and last redirecting reasons will be provided to the RND subscriber.

CONDITIONS

PRI is provided subject to the availability of central office facilities.

Each PRI consists of one T1 facility and one Service Configuration. A customer may request more than one PRI per premises.
