Dear Customers,

Last September we sent you a letter regarding our preparation and submission of our rate case application to the Utah Public Service Commission. Subsequent to our application submittal we received several comments from the Public Service Commission. We have spent the past several months gathering the information requested.

We are sending this letter to inform all customers that we are preparing to resubmit our rate case application to the Utah Public Service Commission. The rate case is the vehicle through which changes to the water rates are approved. During the rate case process, the Utah Division of Public Utilities and the Public Services Commission will examine the proposed rates and review our financial history and future financial outlook.

The process will also involve one or more hearings and public meetings before final approval of the changes. As a customer of Community Water you may contact the Public Service Commission and the Division of Public Utilities as follows:

Utah Division of Public Utilities

Additionally, various filings and decisions relating to the rate case will be available on the Utah Public Service Commission's website at www.psc.utah.gov.

We are confident that this rate increase will provide us the ability to provide you the continued level of service and reliability that you have come to expect. If you have additional questions regarding the proposed increase please do not hesitate to call.

Sincerely,

Stacy Wilson
