

Information on any secondary/irrigation water system

Community Water customers are able to use treated culinary water for irrigation purposes. The Company does not track irrigation usage different from the culinary rate and does not distinguish between the manner in which the water is used by a given customer.